THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

HUGH: "We won't see many more games here, Judge. I just drew up a deed of sale this morning. They're building the new hospital on this property."

OLD JUDGE: "I'm glad to hear that. I didn't know the plans were finished yet."

MARJORIE: "It's going to be a splendid hospital, Judge. We've included a special clinic, too, for the study and treatment of alcoholism."

OLD JUDGE: "That's fine, Marjorie. I've been hoping all along the board would do that. It proves we've got one of the most enlightened communities in the country."

MARJORIE: "Our new superintendent persuaded us, Judge. He says the time has come when people have to recognize the fact that alcoholics are sick people, and should be given the same facilities for treatment as any other person who is ill."

OLD JUDGE: "I hope more communities will take that sensible point of view. Fortunately only about 1 1/2% of the people who use alcoholic beverages are problem drinkers, but in most cases they are people with deep-seated personality defects which can only be corrected by psychiatrists and medical men who understand these conditions."

GAO Is Official Name Of Uncle's Watchdog

Accounting Outfit on the Earth Guards Cash.

WASHINGTON.—Anybody who has money from the government should be kept in the eye of the GAO, the general accounting office.

The largest accounting outfit in the world, the GAO, is now being reorganized. It has thousands of ways of looking at government money, whether through fraud or waste.

When money, for instance, has been paid for, the GAO catches up on it. It checks to see if it was paid for, and if it was, to two accounts at the same time and in the same way.

It didn't know that GAO was a watchdog. GAO figures out what a government commits itself to when a woman commits herself to a man. It's her first duty to get her true first name.

In the "money" file the endorser's name is checked. The endorser's name is checked—sometimes with a check.

Every dollar paid by a disbursing officer of the government is recorded in the GAO's audit division. In fact, the which ended this year's vouchers were GAO had receipts to $17,000 of money resulting in the government receiving refunds of $43,000. The discrepancies are usually of error and not of fraud.

An Open Letter From Virginia Churchmen To The People of Virginia

October 10, 1946

FELLOW VIRGINIANS:

You know what fine work USO has done for the men and women in our armed services during the great conflict just ended. You know how magnificently our citizens have supported this experiment in unselfish endeavors. And you know there are still nearly 2 million in uniform, scattered throughout the world, many of whom will not be discharged for months to come.

In the face of this record and the present situation, is there any wonder that the USO has been asked by the President, the Army and the Navy to continue its services through 1947? Can we afford not to support the six great humanitarian organizations which make up the USO? They represent the three major faiths that have combined their resources and experience to boost the morale of those who represent the military might of the United States in a world that has not yet found peace.

Surely there is no more challenging cause for our churches at this critical moment, no more deserving undertaking to which over a million volunteers have already devoted long hours, no more vitally needed movement toward constructive relations among men.

We ask you to join the church and civic leaders in your community in the support of the final campaign to raise funds to see USO through 1947. We must see this job through. We must win the peace and maintain the morale of the men who guarantee it.
